Our New Initiative:

Recently, we have ventured into a new endeavor and have developed a state-of-the-art early childhood development and neurorehabilitation center titled - "HOLDING HAND IN MAGICAL YEARS - EARLY CHILDHOOD DEVELOPMENT & NEUROREHABILITATION CENTRE", to cater to the needs of children with neurodevelopmental impairment, in collaboration with The Hans Foundation, who will be providing financial support.

HIGHLIGHTS

The Department has successfully transitioned to the new "Mother and Child Block, " consolidating all clinical services, including emergency operating theaters (beyond routine working hours) and enhanced office facilities in a single location. Presently, the ward and neonatal surgical intensive care unit are poised to reach their full capacity, pending the completion of staff recruitment. The move to a specialized block, which also accommodates the departments of Obstetrics & Gynaecology and Pediatrics, has laid the groundwork for developing all subspecialties. This strategic co-location has also significantly advanced the management of children afflicted with complex malformations, advanced-stage cancers, and other critical illnesses.

EDUCATION

The Department remains deeply committed to training MCh Paediatric Surgery residents as well as postgraduate, undergraduate, and nursing students. "Surgery-Paedia", a digital academic initiative launched earlier during COVID, is now being consolidated to promote collaborative learning. It facilitates resident-led exploration of clinical queries via a Google group, with archived discussions organized by system. The platform also features case-based templates and a cloud-based repository of clinical examination videos, ensuring broad accessibility and enriched learning.

CMEs/Workshops/Symposia/National and International Conferences

The Department actively contributed to academic exchange and capacity-building through several noteworthy events. It hosted the Delhi Association of Pediatric Surgeons (DAPS) Monthly Meeting on April 6, 2024, bringing together paediatric surgeons from across the city. On 23 February 2025, a Grant Writing Workshop for Extramural Funding was organized online by Dr. Prabudh Goel in collaboration with the Indian Association of Paediatric Surgeons (IAPS), aimed at empowering early-career researchers. Furthermore, the Department conducted an Update on Vesicoureteric Reflux on 2 March 2025, featuring Professor Prem Puri as the distinguished guest of honour. Preparations are also underway for an upcoming conference titled "Advancing Pediatric Minimal Access Surgery (PMAS), " scheduled for April 2025, with planning activities currently in full swing.

HIGHLIGHTS

In the year 2024-2025, Department of Pathology maintained high-level academics and efficient clinical services. The department is engaged in routine diagnostic reporting of Surgical Pathology and Cytopathology, and teaching of undergraduate and postgraduate students in addition to performing high quality research in various areas of pathology. The department provided services to large number of patients by processing approximately 65,000 surgical pathology and ~30,000 cytopathology specimens.

The Department is regularly providing advanced molecular tests for routine patient care services related to molecular pathology and cytogenetic work-up, which include Next generation sequencing, in-situ hybridization, flow cytometry, tissue microarray, capillary electrophoresis, real-time PCR, etc. The diagnostic and predictive immunohistochemical panel has been expanded and a total of 91,521 slides have been stained and studied during this period.

The molecular testing services are being used for routine diagnostics, as well as for prognostic and predictive purposes in all pathology sub-specialties. A few examples include PIK3CA mutations in breast cancers, EGFR gene mutations on tissue as well as liquid biopsies, ALK and ROS-1 rearrangements and targeted next generation sequencing in lung cancer, TCR clonality assay in and MYDD88, BRAFV600E by real time PCR in lymphomas, multiple gene fusions and other molecular alterations in salivary gland tumors as well as soft tissue sarcomas and MYCN amplification in pediatric neuroblastomas.

The Department faculty have received funding for a total of 41 extramural and intramural projects related to pathology and molecular features of wide spectrum of neoplastic and non-neoplastic diseases. The faculty of the department has presented their research work at various virtual national and international conferences and received awards individually or to their residents. A total of 137 papers have been published in peer reviewed national and international journals.

Professor Deepali Jain became the Fellow National Academy of Medical Sciences (FAMS), India, 2024 and was awarded the AIIMS Excellence Research Award Clinical Sciences, Certificate of Excellence, and was listed in Stanford University California list of world's top 2% of scientists. Professor Geetika Singh was invited to be part of the Renal Pathology working group, International society of Nephrology 2024-2025 and to be part of the South Asia Regional Board (SARB) of the International society of Nephrology 2024 – 2025. Dr Shipra Agarwal received AIIMS Excellence Research Award Clinical Sciences, Certificate of Excellence in basic sciences. Dr. Kavneet Kaur and Dr. Aruna Nambirajan became Fellows of Royal College of Pathologists, United Kingdom. Dr Balamurugan T received Associate fellowship of National Academy of Medical Sciences 2024.

We have many faculty members contributing to World Health Organization (WHO) blue books and purple books for classification of tumors of various systems edited by International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC), Lyon, France.

HIGHLIGHTS

The National Poisons Information Centre (NPIC) in the Department has completed 30 years of its service to the nation.

The Department continues to be ADR monitoring centre (ADR-AMC) under Pharmacovigilance Programme of India (PvPI) and Medical Device Monitoring Centre (MDMC) for Materiovigilance Program of India (MvPI) by Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Govt. of India.

The Department of Pharmacology organized 'International Pharmacology Conference and 54th Annual Conference of Indian Pharmacological Society' (IPC-IPSCON 2024) from 28th to 30th November 2024 and a two days Pre-conference workshop from 26th to 27th November 2024. The IPC-IPSCON 2024 provided a good platform to showcase the latest advancements in Pharmacology and catered well to the aspirations of young pharmacologists, researchers, and professionals. The theme of the conference was "Today's Research – Tomorrow's Medicine" and there was participation of more than 1200 International and National delegates. The pre-conference workshop was organized on "Techniques in Pharmacological Research" and this provided training and insight to around 150 workshop participants on the application of various techniques in research.

The Department organized following guest lectures:

1. 'Post-marketing safety and risk-management of medicinal products' on 27 February 2025 by Dr Yatin Shivkar, Senior Medical Director, Glaxo Smith Kline (GSK), United Kingdom.

Education

The department is engaged in the teaching programmes of BSc Nursing (Hons), MBBS, MSc (Medical Pharmacology), MD, PhD and DM (Clinical Pharmacology) courses.

HIGHLIGHTS

The department of Physiology has been highly active in research and academics. Several symposia/ workshops were organized by faculty at various institutes of India and within AIIMS New Delhi. During these meetings our faculty and postgraduates shared their expertise and demonstrated advanced techniques with the Physiologists and other scientists from India and abroad. Faculty members, doctoral and postdoctoral students received extramural research projects related to specialized areas of Physiology or multidisciplinary projects in collaboration with other institutes nationally/ internationally or departments within AIIMS. Several awards and honors have been received by faculty members and the postgraduate students of the department in appreciation of their innovative contributions in research and medical education.

In addition, the Department of Physiology continued to be actively involved in undergraduate, postgraduate teaching and doctoral research programs. Encouraged by research projects of the department several first year MBBS students applied for ICMT STS program. The department also offered summer training to first year MBBS students.

The Department has started structured posting of senior resident for providing routine clinical physiology services from October 2024. The clinical physiology services are being provided for Autonomic and Vascular Functions, Integrated Health Clinical, Intraoperative Neurophysiology, Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation. Additional facilities for clinical physiology services for Esophageal pressure manometry, Nerve conduction velocity and Cognitive Function test are being developed.

HIGHLIGHTS

The department made several strides in enhancing patient care, education and research. A new RIS-PACS system was expanded which enabled the linking of imaging services of the Main hospital, New Private Ward, Trauma Centre, Surgical block, New RAK OPD and National Centre for aging (NCA). This link has ensured that reporting as well as reviews for expert opinion are shared between the various centres and blocks. This has significantly enhanced the quantity and quality of patient care services especially in emergency and critical care. Several modalities have been operationalized for 24X7 work schedule with significant increase in the number of studies and procedures performed. A new 3.0 T MRI has been operationalised in NCA providing advanced imaging services for patients. A collaborative Research Project of AIIMS with MOHFW and M/S AI Wadhwani is currently underway for classification and reporting of Chest Radiographs using deep learning, which is now part of AIIMS Centre of Excellence for Artificial Intelligence under the Ministry of Education.

The department hosted the first course of "5th AIIMS-MAMC-PGI Imaging Series" on Gastrointestinal & Hepatobiliary Radiology on 10 and 11 August 2024 at JL Auditorium, AIIMS, New Delhi. It was attended by over 300 delegates. This course was unique in that it marked the beginning of the 5th edition of a highly successful course (which has been running for almost the last 30 years), after a hiatus of 4 years. In addition to the CME/ conference, the course book was also launched.

The departmental faculty continued to be actively engaged in patient care, education and research. Faculty members delivered over 209 talks in various CMEs, national and international conferences. Faculty members were also actively involved in research and published over 179 papers in various indexed national and international journals and contributed 55 chapters to textbooks of Radiology. Three books were also published. A total of 55 posters and oral papers were presented in various conferences out of which 2 received awards in different forums. The department faculty members were principal investigators in 7 funded projects; and they were involved in more than 16 departmental projects and around 36 collaborative projects with other clinical departments. The faculty members received 16 awards during the year.

Thirty two interdepartmental clinico Radiological conferences are conducted every week. These included multidisciplinary discussion of cases done at AIIMS, Delhi and also elsewhere. Review of approximately 22000 scans done outside AIIMS was done over the year.

Clinical grand round (CGR) on "Interventional radiology in managing hemoptysis: Two decades of teamwork" was presented on 6th August 2024 in lecture theater-1 by department faculties. It was very well attended by residents and faculties of various departments at AIIMS.

EDUCATION

Undergraduate:*

The department faculty was actively involved in teaching undergraduate students. There were 40 lectures for undergraduates taken by the faculty in this period.

Postgraduate:

There were a total of 39 junior residents in the department during this period, including 9 new residents who joined the department. The department had four fellows pursuing their fellowships during this period. Academic activities for postgraduate students were regularly conducted and included around 24 journal clubs, 22 seminars, 20 case discussions, 98 interesting film sessions and 20 didactic lectures. Both online and offline platforms were utilized for the academic sessions.

BSc (Hons) Medical Technology in Radiography (BMRIT):

The duration of the updated course is now four years including one year Internship. A total of 39 students are currently pursuing the course.

CMEs/Workshops/Symposia/National and International Conferences:

The department hosted the first course of "5th AIIMS-MAMC-PGI Imaging Series" on Gastrointestinal & Hepatobiliary Radiology on 10 and 11 August 2024 at JL Auditorium, AIIMS, New Delhi. It was attended by over 300 delegates. This course was unique in that it marked the beginning of the 5th edition of a highly successful course (which has been running for almost 30 years), after a hiatus of 4 years. In addition to the CME/ conference, the course book was also launched, comprising twenty-seven updated chapters, covering all the important entities for practicing radiologists as well as post-graduate students. Every chapter was meticulously updated to incorporate the latest advancements, new guidelines and evolving concepts. New terminology and concepts in Metabolic Associated Steatotic Liver Disease (MASLD), MR elastography, updated BCLC and NCCN guidelines, LIRAD nomenclature, recent advances in Interventional Radiology options for hepatocellular carcinoma etc. were suitably highlighted.

The department held the 2nd Anoop Memorial Lecture on 17 October 22 in online mode, on the topic of Academia, entrepreneurship and the pursuit of excellence in Radiology

HIGHLIGHTS

The department is mainly involved in teaching, training and research works besides diagnostic services (reproductive hormones & cancer biomarkers; semen analysis; FISH & QF PCR for various genetic disorders) and reproductive genetic counseling. Most of the reproductive genetic counseling was self-referral. Most of the cases were with reproductive disorders, malformation, cancer, infertility, etc. CRIA facility provides tests for more than 50 parameters including cancer markers, reproductive hormones, metabolic markers, etc. Online reports are provided for all CRIA lab tests. This year CRIA facility has done 3,44, 133 tests for more than 1.35 lakh patient samples. Andrology laboratory provides detailed semen analysis whereas molecular laboratory of the department provides various genetic tests using FISH, QF PCR, etc technologies. Training and teaching is provided to our own PhD students, MSc students & various trainees of the department besides other departments of AIIMS. Faculty members of the department were invited by several national academics for different academic contributions (NABL/QCI, ICMR, MCI/NMC, NIHFW, DBT, NIRRH, etc). Many PhD students of the department won prizes for presenting their work at various national and international conferences.

HIGHLIGHTS

Department of Rheumatology provides state-of-the-art care to patients with acute and chronic rheumatic ailments and played an instrumental role in building resources, since 2015 August. The 6-bed Rheumatology Day Care service, started in 2012, was the first of its kind in India and continues to cater to patients requiring various treatments and procedures in a cost-effective manner. With the recent addition of 14 indoor beds, both the quality of patient care and resident training have been further enhanced. Various educational activities to increase awareness about arthritis and related disorders among the public and medical professionals are conducted regularly. Vocational and occupational therapy services, along with musculoskeletal ultrasound and certain investigations, constitute an important part of departmental point-of-care services. Department has been on the forefront in research also; it has research grant of INR 5,26,90,098.00 and many collaborative projects are also running. Department faculty had numerous publications in reputed scientific journals. Collaborative research activities have lead to filing of patents. Realizing the need for trained Rheumatology specialists, short-term training to medical specialists from various Government organizations is being provided on regular basis. Department has signed MoU with Ministry of Labour& Employment for comprehensive rehabilitation of patients with disabilities developing due to rheumatic conditions. This MoU is facilitating skill certifications, enhancing employability and opening new vocational avenues empowering patients towards self-reliance.

Action Plan: Department has active teaching programme and it is trying to start super-specialty course 'DM' in Rheumatology once in-door patient facility is started.

Occupational Therapy in Department of Rheumatology, All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi is dedicated to enhancing the quality of life for patients through a comprehensive approach that integrates therapeutic exercises, patient education, and advanced rehabilitation techniques.

Occupational therapy (OT) is a vital component of the multidisciplinary care provided to patients with rheumatologic conditions. We use evidence-based practices to assess, diagnose, and treat a wide range of musculoskeletal and autoimmune disorders. The primary objective of OT is to enable patients to achieve optimal functional independence in their daily activities ADL, thereby improving their overall well-being.

Activities Undertaken

The Department of Occupational Therapy engages in a variety of activities aimed at promoting patient recovery and functional improvement. These activities include:

1. Comprehensive Assessments: Detailed evaluations of patients' physical, cognitive, and psychosocial status to develop individualized treatment plans.
2. Therapeutic Interventions: Implementation of customized therapeutic exercises and activities designed to enhance mobility, strength, and coordination.
3. Patient Education: Providing patients and their families with information on disease management, ergonomic principles, and adaptive techniques to facilitate daily living.
4. Interdisciplinary Collaboration: Working closely with rheumatologists, physiotherapists, and other healthcare professionals to ensure a holistic approach to patient care.
5. Splints: Fabrication of Upper extremity Orthosis, Splints, Adaptive& Assistive Devices
6. Therapeutic Exercises: Our department employs a range of therapeutic exercises tailored to the specific needs of each patient. These exercises include:

1. Range of Motion (ROM) Exercises: Designed to maintain or improve joint flexibility and prevent contractures. These exercises are crucial for patients with conditions such as rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis.
2. Strengthening Exercises: Focused on enhancing muscle strength and endurance. These exercises are particularly beneficial for patients experiencing muscle weakness due to chronic inflammation or prolonged immobility.
3. Functional Training: Activities that simulate daily tasks to improve patients' ability to perform activities of daily living (ADLs) independently. This includes training in self-care, mobility, and home management skills.
4. Neuromuscular Re-education: Techniques aimed at improving coordination, balance, and proprioception. These exercises are essential for patients with neurological impairments or those recovering from joint surgeries.
5. Pain Management Techniques: Incorporating modalities such as heat, cold, and electrical stimulation to alleviate pain and reduce inflammation.

We are committed to providing high-quality, patient-centered care through innovative therapeutic interventions and collaborative efforts. Our goal is to empower patients to lead fulfilling lives by maximizing their functional abilities and promoting overall health and well-being.

HIGHLIGHTS

The Department of Surgical Disciplines is organised into six units and has expanded its surgical services with the installation of robotic surgical system in the operating area and dialysis facility within the surgical critical care area. Several newly introduced afternoon specialty clinics have successfully addressed a range of surgical domains including Benign Breast Disease, Endocrine Surgery, Cancer Genetics, Stoma, Male Sexual Health, Gastrointestinal & Gallbladder Stones, Hernia, Coloproctology, Vascular, Renal Transplant and Arteriovenous Fistula (Venous Access), and Pectus Clinics over the last one year. These complemented the existing clinics such as Breast Cancer, Bariatric Surgery, Combined Pulmonary-Surgery, and Follow-up Clinics. The Geriatric Surgery OPD has completed almost two years of successful operation, with plans to soon initiate dedicated inpatient and operative services. Multiple academic events including conferences, CMEs and surgical workshops were organized by the department, some with collaboration with reputed national and international scientific bodies, contributing to the training of numerous national and international delegates. The faculty from the department are involved in simulation based teaching and training, both at the departmental surgery skill centre stationed in the Surgery Block and the skill as well as wet lab in the SET facility. The department has mentored the development of advanced surgical services such as renal transplantation at other AIIMS. The department received accolades with wining the rolling trophy for best monthly meeting of the D elhi state chapter of the Association of Surgeons of India. Faculty and residents have presented their research work in many national and international conferences, some of which received appreciation in the form of awards and prizes. The department also hosts international medical graduates from European countries like Germany for providing them with short term externships.

Highlights

The department's emphasis on blood safety and quality is at the core of its operations. During the year 2024-2025, over 60, 000 blood units were collected along with more than 80 outdoor voluntary blood donation drives. All units were tested for infectious markers using automated equipment's for serological and molecular assays. Alongside, patient care activities are completely automated, from the time a patient's sample is received till the blood components are issued. With recent addition of Surgical and MCH (Maternal and Child Health) blocks and NCA (National Centre for Ageing), a storage centre has been added to the MCH block to cater specifically to these patients. In addition to these, department has improved its patient care activities by expanding facilities for therapeutic plasma exchanges, PBSC collection, and introducing granulocyte collection. The department also maintains an inventory of phenotype RBC concentrates to ensure that risk of allo-immunization amongst multiply transfused patients is reduced to minimum. Moreover, all patients intended for transfusion undergo antibody screen prior to cross-matching to reduce the risk of any acute or delayed transfusion reaction. Ensuring its commitment toward quality services, the department also applied and underwent assessment for NABH accreditation of the Main Blood Centre. Apart from the routine activities, several programs for promotion of voluntary blood donation activities were also conducted, amongst this a felicitation program for blood donor and camp organisers were conducted in the presence of Director, AIIMS. Academic activities have been a priority, with departmental faculty and resident participating in various national and international programs. Several international guests visited to the department for interaction with post-graduate students and senior residents, enabling exchange of research ideas in the field of Transfusion Medicine.

HIGHLIGHTS

The department offers state-of-the-art transplant immunology services to support both solid organ transplantation and hematopoietic stem cell transplantation (HSCT). Utilizing advanced molecular HLA typing and comprehensive serological monitoring techniques, the department ensures high-quality care for transplant recipients. These services are also extended to facilitate deceased donor transplant activities, contributing significantly to the success of urgent transplant procedures. In a major advancement, the department has introduced prenatal diagnosis for Primary Immunodeficiencies (PIDs) using flow cytometry-based immunophenotyping. Through the application of sophisticated flow cytometry techniques, the department can rapidly analyze specific immune cell populations and subpopulations, evaluate cell surface, intracellular, and intranuclear proteins, and assess biological functions linked to immune defects. The introduction of prenatal PID diagnosis enables the early identification of affected fetuses, particularly in the first trimester of pregnancy. Early detection paves the way for timely genetic counseling, informed decision-making for families, and preparation for early interventions where feasible. This initiative reflects the department's commitment to integrating cutting-edge technologies for better patient outcomes and highlights its pivotal role in advancing the field of clinical immunology and transplant science. The department continues to evolve its services to meet the growing needs of patients while maintaining excellence in clinical care, diagnosis, and research.

EDUCATION

During the year 2024-2025, our department trained 21 students/doctors, from various hospitals and institutions from India and abroad. These candidates received training on laboratory techniques in Transplant Immunology, Immunogenetics-HLA testing, post-transplant monitoring and other immunological investigations for immune deficiency.

Highlights

The Blood Transfusion services of C.N. Centre caters to round the clock transfusion needs of patients admitted in C.N Centre of AIIMS by collecting, processing and providing safe and quality blood and blood components. The activities include both inhouse and outdoor blood collection, blood donor motivation and pre-donation and post-donation counseling, blood component preparation, various serological tests and special procedures like apheresis and therapeutic phlebotomy.

Components like packed red cells, plasma, fresh frozen plasma, platelet rich plasma, platelet concentrate, cryoprecipitate, leucodepleted red cells and platelets are available in adequate nos. at all times. Facility for Apheresis procedures and autologous donation is available. Surplus plasma is being sent for plasma product fractionation. Blood components are subjected to irradiation for heart transplant patiets.

Serological tests performed in the BTS include tests for blood grouping, screening for irregular antibodies, compatibility tests using latest technology like column agglutination and SPRCA assay. Every unit of blood collected is tested for transfusion transmissible infections like Hepatitis B, Hepatitis C, HIV- 1 and 2, syphilis, Malaria. Automation is used in most of the laboratories in the department for better output and quality. Donor blood samples are also being subjected to NAT (Nucleic Acid Amplification test) screening as an additional screening test to detect HIV/HCV/HBV and thus improve blood safety.

Quality management system is in place for its products like blood and blood components, equipments, processes, and services. The BTS also participates in External Quality Assessment Scheme

Haemovigilance, the department participates in the Hamovigilance Programme of India.(HvPI) for both recipient as well as donor haemovigilance on a regular basis.

Computerisation of the Blood Bank procedures through e-blood bank software module by NIC, for real time data generation and integration with the HIS is in place.

Highlights

Oral Medicine

Oral Medicine and Radiology is the main OPD at CDER where all new and old patients including EHS reporting to CDER are first examined and undergo radiological and other investigations before definitive treatment. It also does opportunistic screening for oral cancer and management of oral potentially malignant disorders. It runs a special clinic Oral Ulcer Clinic and soft tissue laser clinic where all oral mucosal lesions are managed. It is also the coordinating department for patients referred for Dental Clearance from IRCH, Medical Oncology, Cardiology, and Endocrinology before definitive treatment. It also does oral and dental screening for members of the GOI Antarctica team. It looks after all 2D dental radiological investigations like IOPA, Occlusal, OPG, Lateral Ceph, and 3D imaging with CBCT for all the clinical departments at CDER.

HPV Screenings Can Avert Cervical Cancer

10-15% Women In 30-60 Age Group +ve For Virus

Anuja.Jaiswal

New Delhi: The persistent high-risk type of Human Papilloma Virus (HPV), a common sexually transmitted infection and main cause of cervical cancer, has been found positive in 10-15% of women in the age of 30-60 years when screened at AIIMS' Preventive Oncology Clinic in the last one year.

Cervical cancer is the second most common cancer among Indian women with 1,23,907 new cases and 77,348 deaths estimated in 2020, according to Global Cancer Ob-

The clinic, which runs twice a week at AIIMS, was started in April 2022. It found that of the 493 women tested, 33 tested positive for the high-risk type of HPV in a year. As January marks cervical cancer awareness month, it is a time to shed light on the importance of prevention and early detection of cervical cancer, doctors at AIIMS said.

Associate professor of preventive oncology Dr Pallavi Shukla advised that every sexually active woman (above 25 years of age) should go through HPV tests at regular intervals to help prevent cervical cancer. It may show up in symptoms such as irregular bleeding, post-menopausal bleeding or increased vaginal discharge. More severe symptoms may arise in advanced stages.

"Sometimes, there may be no symptoms at all. Therefore, it is essential that every woman who is sexually active must undergo regular screenings," she said, adding that HPV test results can be available in one hour and self-sampling is possible only in this method of screening.

Once a screening result is positive, the woman may require further tests, such as colposcopy, with or without biopsy. Any woman identified with a pre-cancer/cancer of cervix must be initiated into prompt treatment, the doctor said.

Research suggests that almost 60% of sexually active individuals will encounter an HPV infection once in their lifetime as the virus spreads through skin-to-skin contact. Doctors said that although over 90% of all new HPV infections go away on their own, some HPV types are persistent and may cause cervical cancer if left undiagnosed or untreated.

While HPV is a family of over 200 low and high-risk genotypes, almost 85% of cervical cancer cases in India are caused by the high-risk HPV 16 and HPV 18 types. The most common high-risk type, HPV-16, alone causes 50% of cervical cancers globally.

Dr Shukla added that almost all cases of cervical cancer are linked to persistent HPV infection. "Cervical cancer is a type of cancer that begins in the cells of the cervix, the lower part of the uterus that connects to the vagina. This cancer usually develops slowly over time, starting with precancerous changes in the cells of the cervix before progressing to an invasive cancer if left untreated," she said.

According to doctors, early detection through awareness, HPV vaccination and screening presents a crucial opportunity, with a high cure rate when managed in the early stages. The government is also planning to include a cervical cancer vaccine in the universal immunisation programme.

HOW TO LOWER RISK

One woman dies of cervical cancer every 8 minutes

Reduce risk
- Vaccinate early (9-14 years)
- Screening test regularly (25-65 years)
- Prompt treatment

HPV test
1) WHO recommends it as the primary screening test
2) Can give result within one hour
3) Self sampling is possible only through this method

Factors that may put one at risk
1) Multiple sexual partners
2) Having many children
3) Long-term use of oral contraceptive pills
4) Family history
5) Smoking
6) Early marriage
7) Unprotected sex
8) Early child birth

Signs and symptoms
1) Unusual vaginal discharge or bleeding
2) Heavier and longer menstrual cycle
4) Pain during intercourse
5) Unexpected weight loss
6) Pelvic pain
7) Loss of bladder control

Ocular Microbiology:

Patient care Services: - In addition to the services of light microscopy and culture for all pathogens, immuno-fluorescence for Chlamydia and Herpes Simplex Virus, and molecular assays, we have started doing fluorescence microscopy for fungal elements in the ocular tissues. Also, antifungal susceptibility testing has been standardized and is being done for refractory cases of ocular mycosis. Identification and antimicrobial susceptibility testing using automated system is now available for difficult to diagnose bacteria and yeasts.

Infection control:- The section is involved in infection control at the Centre, and investigation and control of clusters and outbreaks of infections. Protocols and SOPs have been prepared to minimize transmission of infection, and occurrence of post procedure infections.
