About the Event

B.B. Dikshit Library, All India Institute of Medical Sciences, Delhi and Wolters Kluwer are pleased to invite you to attend a Publishing Workshop.

B. B. Dikshit Library subscribes near about 280 LWW total health collection/OVID journals, UpToDate Point of care database, Acland Anatomy. Making awareness of these E-Resources through OVID platform is one of the main objective of this workshop and how to structure your manuscript to impress the scholarly journals influence and avoidance in scholarly communication.

A well-written and cohesively presented manuscript is a pre-requisite to attract a journal editor's attention and to make sure your manuscript is put forward through peer review. A well- structured manuscript also impresses peer reviewers and allows them to focus on more specific details of the content and research methodology. In this session, participants will learn how to structure an original research article into the IMRaD format. We will also share tips on how to organize bibliographic references.
